

Layering Techniques for Prompts

MIDJOURNEY

What is the Layering Technique in Midjourney?

Layering simply means building your prompt step-by-step, like putting clothes on a mannequin:

- Start with the body → Subject
- Add clothes → Style and materials
- Add lighting → Mood
- Add accessories → Details (camera, textures)
- Choose where you're showing it → Aspect ratio

✓ This way, your final image is much more controlled, beautiful, and professional — not random chaos!

Easy Version (Without Style Settings)

✓ Start simple with just the important parts:

1. Subject → What you want to show
2. Composition → Overhead view? Eye-level? Close-up?
3. Style → Minimalist? Luxury? Bohemian?
4. Lighting → Morning light? Moody sunset? Studio lighting?
5. Textures / Extras → Linen, marble, velvet, etc.

Example (Simple Layered Prompt)

cozy Scandinavian living room, eye-level view, minimalist style, soft morning light, linen sofa, wooden floors --ar 16:9 --v 6 --q 2 --style raw

Result:

You get a clean cozy living room that looks natural and intentional.

Full Professional Version (With Settings)

✓ Now for the strongest, "designer-level" version:

1. Subject
2. Composition / Camera Lens
3. Lighting
4. Textures / Extra Focus
5. Color Palette
6. Aspect Ratio
7. Style Raw
8. Stylize Setting
9. Quality
10. Seed (Optional for consistency)

Example (Full Advanced Prompt)

modern cozy cafe interior, wide angle lens, golden hour natural lighting, soft linen textures, muted earth tone color palette --ar 16:9 --v 6 --q 2 --style raw --stylize 50 -seed 83949

This one gives you:

- A big wide photo of a cafe
- Soft light like sunset
- Natural textures and muted colors
- Very realistic (no fantasy) look
- Ultra high-quality output
- Reproducible later with the same seed if needed

Super Shortcut Formula You Could Teach Them:

[Subject] + [Viewpoint] + [Lighting] + [Textures] +
[Color Palette] + --ar + --v + --q + --style raw + --stylize

Example:

luxury Parisian apartment, shot with 85mm lens, soft golden sunset light, velvet armchairs and marble floors, neutral color palette --ar 9:16 --v 6 --q 2 --style raw -- stylize 50

HOMEWORK:

Write very short first prompts

→ generate → then add layers if you want to refine it.

This teaches thinking like a creative director, not just throwing random words into Midjourney.

Quick Summary

- ✓ Layering = Smart building of a prompt (not a mess)
- ✓ Think: Subject → Mood → Details → Settings
- ✓ Use raw + stylize + quality settings to lock realism
- ✓ Seeds = for consistency if needed
